News From Around PA

Big Spring School District approved a Gay Straight Alliance Club on August 6th. It will meet weekly "to discuss ways of educating not just the high school, but the entire Newville community on LGBT issues."

Pennsylvania's role as a transportation hub has led some to consider it a "pass through" state for human trafficking, but it's also a source of victims and destination for victims brought from elsewhere, according to a study by Joint State Government Comm.

State Senate has just eight voting days left in the 2011-2012 legislative session!

Somerset County has been targeted by homosexual activists to pass a county wide homosexual special rights ordinance!

On July 24th East Norriton Board of Supervisors (Mont) adopted an ordinance forming a new Human Relations Comm. Solicitor Sean Kilkenny called it the local adoption of the state statute. Was that all it was?

New from National Scene

Despite overwhelming medical evidence that AIDS is rapidly growing among homosexuals because of behavioral risks, the medical journal Lancet is telling the medical community that "homophobia is a key driver" of the growing epidemic. The Lancet is calling for the removal of any stigma and discrimination attached to homosexuality.

Homosexuals have called for a boycott of Amway and its affiliates after ABC reported the company's president, Douglas DeVos, donated $500,000 to the National Organization for Marriage.

Bulgarian "civil society organizations representing thousands of families in Bulgaria" wrote a letter last month to the US Ambassador stating, " we would like to express our deep indignation of your support of the gay parade and its accompanying events this year."

Obamacare prevents discrimination based on "gender identity." According to the National Gay and Lesbian Task force, "this means that no one can be discriminated against because of their gender identity or because of a healthcare provider's stereotype about sex—what a man or a woman 'ought to look like.'" look like."

AFA of PA encourages Christians, through education, to become involved in pro-family issues in their community, state and the nation.
