News From Around PA

There were 3400 cases of child abuse in PA in 2011; over 1700 were child sexual abuse! Statistics show that porn consumption plays a major role in child sexual abuse. The AFA of PA has contacted Attorney General Linda Kelly's office asking her to, at a minimum, contact each municipality in PA encouraging them to pass zoning and licensing ordinances to regulate sexually oriented businesses.

Abington Health and Holy Redeemer Health System merger has died! They are not officially saying why, but one can guess it was the abortion issue. Many doctors in Abington Health opposed the idea of ending abortions, which was part of the agreement.

Philly District Attorney's Office was accepted into the LGBTQ Crime Victim Services Project. The first meeting was led by Beyond Diversity Resource Center and involved interactive activities so attendees would be "exposed to the realities of living as an LGBT person."

Free Library of Philadelphia library assistant has sued the city for employment discrimination. "She" alleges problems started when "she" transitioned from male to female. One problem "she" wants resolved is "her" ability to use the women's bathroom.

New from National Scene

Chick-fil-A president, Dan Cathy, announced this week his company's support traditional marriage. Reaction has been quick and vicious, saying the company "has staked out a decidedly stuck-in-the-past mentality" and calling it "an openly discriminatory company." The mayor of Boston wants to ban the company from opening a new store in his city. Support a Chick-fil-A near you!

After a 2-year review, Boy Scouts of America reaffirms ban forbidding homosexual leaders and members. An 11-member committee, "came to the conclusion that this policy is absolutely the best policy for the Scouts."

Target goes beyond selling 'pride' t-shirts to this on their card racks: "For two special men" and "For two special women," the cards are adorned with phrases such as "Mr. & Mr." and "Two very special women, one very special love."

Saturday's San Diego Gay Pride Parade will have uniformed military with blessing of Defense Dept.

AFA of PA encourages Christians, through education, to become involved in pro-family issues in their community, state and the nation.
