News From Around PA
Middle Smithfield Township residents in Monroe County are still challenging a conditional use approval by the township supervisors which cleared the way for a strip club to open on property owned by one of the supervisors voting 'aye.'

Thomas H. Earle, CEO of Liberty Resources Inc., a Philadelphia-based disability-rights group, has publicly denounced Chick-fil-A president Dan Cathy's opposition to "marriage equality." In a letter to Cathy, Earle stated he no longer will patronize the restaurant chain — and he's encouraging others to avoid eating there too.

The sexually-transmitted disease gonorrhea can no longer be effectively treated with a time-tested round of antibiotics. It is becoming resistant to the dwindling number of medicines used to fight it, and public health authorities are raising alarms about the emergence of an untreatable "superbug." A November 8, 2005 Los Angeles Times article notes that homosexual males undertaking risky sexual activity are fueling the rise in untreatable gonorrhea.

Office Depot has donated $1 million to Lady Gaga's Born this Way Foundation which promotes the idea to teens and young adults that if they feel same-sex attractions, they need to embrace their homosexuality because they were born that way. This collaboration will reportedly include limited edition back-to-school products, like "empowerment gift cards" and unique "Bravery Bracelets" each containing messages like "Be Amazing" and "Be Yourself."

The University of Texas at Austin has determined that no formal investigation is warranted into the allegations of scientific misconduct lodged against associate professor Mark Regnerus regarding his July article in the journal Social Science Research. The complaint had been filed by a homosexual activist who did not like Regnerus' conclusion -- children are negatively impacted if brought up in a homosexual household.

Office of Personnel Management pulls a fast one by redefining 'stepchild' in order to extend Obamacare's under-26 provision to the kids of federal workers' same-sex domestic partners. AFA of PA encourages Christians, through education, to become involved in pro-family issues in their community, state and the nation.
