News From Around PA

Grammy winner Taylor Swift has donated $50,000 to Children's Hospital of Philadelphia (CHOP) to support a music therapy cart program for teens who are going through cancer treatment. This is good news, however, it was disturbing to see CHOP have a float in last Sunday's Philly Gay Pride Parade!

Judge John Jones, struck down PA's Defense of Marriage Act on May 20th, recently said he saw no proof same-sex "marriage" undermines the institution or weakens families. He noted that Gov. Corbett's team did not try to establish such in the case. Apparently neither have looked at the pertinent studies showing harm.

Covenant House PA is a nonprofit group dedicated to helping victims of human trafficking. They are aware of at least six pimps in Philly recruiting girls through the internet and notes that one does not have to leave the state to be trafficked.

News from National Scene

JONAH (Jews Offering New Alternatives of Healing) has been found guilty in a NJ court of "consumer fraud." Because it was not able to help all those seeking relief from unwanted same-sex attraction, JONAH must bear the costs of "repairing mental and emotional health" of those "harmed." Will Weight Watchers be next??

Governor Mary Fallin signed H.B. 3399 into law— withdrawing Oklahoma from Common Core and allowing the state to adopt its own public education standards. They join IN and SC.

Col. Leah G. Lauderback, a lesbian, has been named commander of the National Air and Space Intelligence Center. During the ceremony, she declared her relief at being able to serve openly while acknowledging her "wife."

The University of North Carolina system has directed that in-state tuition be charged to the same-sex spouses of military personnel as long as the couple married in a state that recognizes same-sex marriage. NC does not recognize such marriages

Pastor of the New Heart Community Church in La Mirada, CA, a Southern Baptist Church, recently announced his son was "gay" and he could no longer support the church's teaching that homosexual acts were sinful. The church has voted to retain the pastor and become a "Third Way" Church.

AFA of PA encourages Christians, through education, to become involved in pro-family issues in their community, state and the nation. We are a non-profit organization that is totally dependent upon financial gifts from our supporters. You can give online here <http://afaofpa.org/donate/>
